DTG ENTERPRISES, INC.,

Respondent.

DOCKET TG-240761

PETITION TO INTERVENE OF RABANCO LTD. AND KENT-
MERIDIAN DISPOSAL CO.

1 COMES NOW, RABANCO LTD., d/b/a Emerald City Disposal, Tri-County Disposal, Lynwood Disposal, Eastside Disposal, Rabanco Companies, Sea-Tac Disposal, Rabanco Connections, Republic Services, and Rabanco Recycling and Kent-Meridian Disposal Company d/b/a Republic Services of Kent, Allied Waste Services of Kent, Kent Meridian Disposal (collectively “Rabanco”), holder of Certificate Nos. G-12 and G-60, and through its counsel, David W. Wiley and Michael S. Howard of Williams, Kastner & Gibbs PLLC, 601 Union Street, Suite 4100, Seattle, Washington, 98101, (206) 628-6652, and pursuant to WAC 480-70-355 petitions to intervene in the above proceeding (“Petition”).

2 Rabanco’s contact information is:

3 Rabanco and its affiliates are the holders and operators of Solid Waste Certificate Nos. G-12 and G-60, attached as Exhibit A. As said exhibits indicate, Rabanco currently holds authority throughout much of Washington, overlapping with DTG’s operations. Rabanco is a current Protestant in the related Application Dockets by DTG in TG-240583 & TG-240584. This docket implicates many factual and legal issues in the application proceedings, particularly on the issue of fitness to operate to be issued a solid waste certificate and assessment of past operations in compliance with RCW 81.77.040. As a solid waste collection company regulated by the Commission, Rabanco has an interest in defending its certificate territory, deflecting unauthorized overlapping services, and supporting the enforcement of any RCW Title 81 violations by unregulated solid waste collection companies.

- 4 The Commission should grant Rabanco’s Petition to Intervene pursuant to WAC 480-07-355(3) because Rabanco has a substantial interest in the subject matter of the hearing and/or its participation, as an incumbent carrier, is in the public interest. The Commission applies a “zone of interest” test to determine whether an intervenor’s participation is in the public interest. WUTC v. Avista Corporation d/b/a Avista Utilities, Dockets UE-170970 et al. Order 04 (January 25, 2018). “Such an interest can be found to exist only when there is a nexus between the petitioner’s stated purpose in seeking to intervene and an interest protected by a Washington statute within the Commission’s jurisdiction.” Id. That is certainly the case here. This case raises broad questions about what types of collection and transportation to and from transfer facilities and recycling material recovery sites (MRFs) are subject to regulation by the Commission as solid waste collection and transportation. In intervening in this proceeding, Rabanco is voicing its perspective as a regulated company and participant in this regulated industry and is not merely advancing a private, financial interest that falls outside of the Commission’s jurisdiction. Cf. id. (denying a petition to intervene brought by Avista’s stockholders that raised issues falling outside of RCW Chapter 80.12 and the Commission’s jurisdiction).

5 Furthermore, Rabanco’s role as an incumbent carrier will serve to develop the record for the Commission’s consideration. As the Commission recently observed in WUTC v. PacifiCorp d/b/a Pacific Power & Light Company, “Staff, Public Counsel, and intervening parties all play a crucial role in developing the record and representing various facets of the public interest in Commission proceedings. The conflict and competition between the parties sharpens the debate and develops the record on all issues, including the issue of the public interest.” Dockets UE-230172 and UE-210852 (consolidated) Order 08/06 ¶ 202 (March 19, 2024) (emphasis added).

6 Rabanco’s participation as an intervenor in this action will not broaden the issues in the matter. DTG has already applied for statewide authority in Docket TG-240584, necessarily raising questions about its overall fitness to operate and its potential violations of RCW Title 81 throughout the state. The Commission is currently considering Staff’s Motion to Consolidate Docket TG-240584 with the pending complaint docket.. While Staff’s Complaint, as filed, may be primarily focused on operations in Snohomish and Whatcom County, the Commission has also referenced several informal data requests issued by Staff prior to issuing the Complaint, which inquired as to DTG’s operations throughout the State. See WUTC v. DTG Enterprises, Inc., Docket TG-240761, Order 01 (Denying Motion to Dismiss) ¶ 9 (January 27, 2025). Rabanco submits that the Commission should broadly consider DTG’s potential violations of RCW Title 81 throughout the state in the context of its overall operations and evidence of how it holds out to perform its services given its historic operations and broad request for either statewide G-certificate authority or an exemption from regulation.

7 At this time, Rabanco anticipates presenting two witnesses requiring two hours of hearing time.

8 Rabanco's position in this action is expected to support the Complaint brought by Commission Staff.
