

Foreign business have other national interests - complicated analysis it is.

Thank you for your efforts to keep the interests of the service users in mind.
I do understand
the complex nature involved. I know - it's something I've worked out for myself in the past.
I'm sorry I can't be of more help.

Hi, some fine relieving rain 8/29/19 here, one full. Cleared the diva a bit. ①

Both the Avista programs, LIPAP +
'customer' energy use conservation program seem to be okay ideas, + rate increases seem minimal, but as long as Avista is a for profit business + not a public utility, and service they should reduce the dividend to stockholders or other comp. Profit seems instead of increasing rates to the users.
What + dividing? Also, business is business no matter what motivation ability of the owners, I am opposed to selling assets to foreign business
