This book is essential to understanding the development of the hydro-electric system in Washington State. The concern for the "common good" was always uppermost in the minds and hearts of public servants Sen. C.C. Dill and President Franklin D. Roosevelt. These men deeply cared about the rights and welfare of American citizens.

WHERE WATER FALLS

BY CLARENCE C. DILL

IN ADDITION TO BEING A REFERENCE BOOK ABOUT GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS, IT GIVES A NEW INSIGHT INTO THE PERSONALITIES OF WELL KNOWN PUBLIC MEN OF THE FIRST HALF OF THIS CENTURY . . . IT TELLS OF THE COLUMBIA RIVER BECOMING THE MIRACLE POWER RIVER OF THE WORLD, AND HOW IN 30 SHORT YEARS IT BECAME THE GREATEST SOURCE OF ELECTRIC POWER EVER KNOWN BY ITS 14 DAMS IN 1,000 MILES.

THE ONLY RIVER TO CUT THROUGH 2 MOUNTAIN RANGES TO REACH THE SEA. ALL OTHERS, BUT ONE, FLOW ALONG SIDES OR BASES OF MOUNTAINS TO LOWER LEVELS, OR THROUGH LESS RUGGED LANDS TO REACH THE SEA . . . IT GIVES THE EXCITING STORY OF LIFTING CLEAR MOUNTAIN WATER TO FERTILE DESERT LAND TO PROVIDE THE LARGEST FOOD PRODUCTION PER ACRE ON THE FACE OF THE EARTH.

ITS INDIAN LEGENDS OF THE LOVE LIFE OF CHIEF COLUMBIA AND PRINCESS KOOTENAI IS AN IMAGINARY STORY WORTHY OF JULES VERNE . . . ALSO THE LEGEND OF HOW THE GREAT INLAND SEA WAS DRAINED WHEN THE COYOTE FROM THE NORTH WITH STORMS AND ICE, OVERSTAYED HIS VISIT AND THE EAGLE WITH THE SUN AND WARM WINDS FROM THE SOUTH MET HIM ON TOP OF THE CASCADE RANGE AND THEIR FIERCE BATTLE TORE OPEN A CHANNEL TO THE SEA AT THE DALLES.

THIS LATTER TALE WAS IMAGINED TO JUSTIFY THE INDIAN CLAIM OF RIGHT TO FISH FOR SALMON IN THE RIVER ALL YEAR THROUGH REGARDLESS OF WHITE MAN'S LAWS.

THE AUTHOR

Former Senator Clarence C. Dill of Spokane, Wash., uses the development of the Pacific Northwest as the background for this most recent of his books, "Where Water Falls." He came to Spokane in 1908 as a newspaper reporter, became a teacher, lawyer, county prosecutor, governor's secretary, then a member of both the House of Representatives and the United States Senate.

During these many years in public life, Dill's acquaintance and experiences with the Great, the Near Great and the Would be Great provides the source for the "behind the scenes" human interest stories, drama
