Jason,

Just some information on Groovin Moving below. I just checked in companies and seen they had their most recent application denied on June 8, 2018 for not providing all the documents required for HHG.

Sounds like they will still be operating.

Thanks
Wayne

Thank you Erin. I will forward this to our investigators. I was doing a search on the web, and the only thing I could find was a Groovy Moving out of Campbell, CA. Can you give me any more information on them? We won't be able to do much if we can't tie them down.

Thanks!
Wayne

Good afternoon!

I just had a customer call and book a last minute move with us. She was irate because she had scheduled with a company called "Groovy Moving Company" and they cancelled on her this morning when they were supposed to be there this morning. She said that they had even called and confirmed with her yesterday. She mentioned something about that they were really stressed out or something and they got a job that paid more so they couldn't do her move today. She also said that they changed the price on her several times. Anyway, Peter said that they aren't a legal moving company and I should let you know about them. The client also asked who she could contact about complaining about them. I sent her your email and office number as well as Mathew Perkinson with the hopes that between the 2 of you, she can get sent to the right place.

Thank you,

RE: Household Goods Moving in Washington State

Dear Mr. Andrey Goncharuk:

The Utilities and Transportation Commission has information that you are conducting household goods moves within the state of Washington. Advertisements for your household goods services have been found on groovinmovin.com. You do not have a valid permit, as required by state law, to conduct this type of work. Conducting household goods moves requires a permit issued by the commission.

To avoid enforcement action, your complete household goods permit application, supporting materials, and application fee must be submitted to the commission by August 13, 2018.

Until you obtain a permit, you must immediately cease operating as a household goods mover in Washington State. Operating as a household goods mover without the required permit is illegal and subject to a penalty of $5,000 per violation. This means that you may receive this penalty for each day you operate in violation of the law.

You must also immediately cease advertising as a household goods mover in Washington State. Advertising for the transportation of property for compensation in Washington without a proper permit is against the law. The penalty for advertising without a permit is $5,000 per violation. This means that you may receive a penalty for each and every advertisement. At this time, the commission has documented advertisements for household goods moving services from Pro Movers, LLC.

If you advertise or operate as a household goods mover without a permit, the commission will take enforcement action against you. Such action may include the above-mentioned financial penalties; and you will be served with a subpoena and be required to appear before a judge.

Again, to avoid enforcement action, your complete application, supporting materials, and application fee must be submitted to the commission by August 13, 2018.

If you have questions about the household goods laws, please contact Brian Braun, Compliance Investigator, at (360) 664-1129.

Should you decide to apply for a household goods moving permit, please note that you still may not operate as a household goods mover in Washington State until you have received a permit. To request a permit application, please call (360) 664-1222. You may also download an application from the commission's website at www.utc.wa.gov/mover.

Sincerely,
