Reasons supporting proposal: The Washington Legislature in 2019 passed the Clean Energy Transformation Act, which included among its provisions several amendments to the Energy Independence Act. The primary reason for this rulemaking is to codify these amendments in the current Energy Independence Act rules in WAC 480-109. The rulemaking will also codify changes made in the 2017 legislative session through ESB 5128. Finally, the rulemaking will make a number of other amendments that help streamline the implementation of the Energy Independence Act.

If the propo	sed rule is not exempt , does it impose more-tha	n-minor	costs (as defined by RCW 19.85.020(2)) on businesses?
<ul> <li>No Briefly summarize the agency's analysis showing how costs were calculated. The proposed rule amendments apply to Washington's electric investor-owned utilities, and they are not considered small businesses under RCW 19.85(3). A small business economic impact statement questionnaire for this rulemaking was released on January 16, 2020. It received no responses.</li> <li>Yes Calculations show the rule proposal likely imposes more-than-minor cost to businesses, and a small business economic impact statement here:</li> </ul>
