RE: Passenger Transportation Company Rulemaking, Chapters 480-30 and 480-40 WAC
Docket No. TC-020497

TO INTERESTED PERSONS:

On May 28, 2002, the Washington Utilities and Transportation Commission (Commission) filed with the Code Reviser a Preproposal Statement of Inquiry (CR-101) to initiate a rulemaking to consider revisions to chapters 480-30 and 480-40 WAC. The rules govern passenger transportation companies operating as auto transportation companies, passenger charter, and excursion carriers. The review is part of the Commission's overall review of its rules, in order to comply with Governor's Executive Order 97-02. A copy of the CR-101 is enclosed.

Governor Locke's Executive Order requires that agencies review significant rules for compliance with the following standards.

1. Need. Is the rule necessary to comply with the statutes that authorize it? Is the rule obsolete, duplicative, or ambiguous to a degree that warrants repeal or revision? Have laws or other circumstances changed so that the rule should be amended or repealed? Is the rule necessary to protect or safeguard the health, welfare, or safety of Washington's citizens?

2. Effectiveness and Efficiency. Is the rule providing the results that it was originally designed to achieve in a reasonable manner? Are there regulatory alternatives or new technologies that could more effectively or efficiently achieve the same objectives?

3. Clarity. Is the rule written and organized in a clear and concise manner so that those to whom it applies can readily understand it?

4. Intent and Statutory Authority. Is the rule consistent with the legislative intent of the statutes that authorize it? Is the rule based upon sufficient statutory authority? Is there a need to develop a more specific legislative authorization in order to protect the health, safety, and welfare of Washington's citizens?

5. Coordination. Could additional consultation and coordination with other governmental jurisdictions and state agencies with similar regulatory authority eliminate or reduce duplication and inconsistency? Agencies should consult with and coordinate with other jurisdictions that have similar regulatory requirements when it is likely that coordination can reduce duplication and inconsistency.

6. Cost. Have qualitative and quantitative benefits of the rule been considered in relation to its cost?

7. Fairness. Does the rule result in equitable treatment of those required to comply with it? Should it be modified to eliminate or minimize any disproportionate impacts on the regulated community? Should it be strengthened to provide additional protection?

In addition, this rulemaking will consider whether substantive changes or additions are required for, but not limited to, provisions relating to:

1. Definitions of terms;
2. Compliance and enforcement;
3. Driver, equipment and company safety;
4. Policies, processes and procedures regarding certificates of public convenience and necessity (including entry standards for certain types of certificates)
5. Schedules, tariffs, and rate filings; and
6. Consumer protection and information issues.
