SUBJECT: Cost of Service

If Avista has not performed a cost of service study showing parity ratios for customer classes since the RY2 rates from Docket UE-220053 went into effect, does Avista have any evidence to indicate that these parity ratios would be materially different from those provided in Exh. RESPONSE:

See the Company's response to the data request labeled AWEC – 125. The Company does not have additional evidence to support parity ratios that would be materially different than those shown in the original filing.
