

resident of Tacoma live less than 2 miles from the proposed LNG plant. I oppose this project and would like you to as well. I'm here to highlight the issue of Safety. . . not the hazardous effects on climate change or that the beginning to end process of liquid natural gas is worse than coal—you'll hear that data.
Safety. . . for Tribal homeland & local residents Puget Sound Energy has been deceptive about the safety of this project all along. First, when this project was proposed, none of the neighbors received notice. There was only notification within 300' of the proposed site. I worry about my family's safety as well as my neighbors and beyond. PSE has always claimed a 550' safety zone was all that was needed. For over a year Tacoma residents have been asking for the Fire Department's safety risk analysis and they would never release it. It wasn't until a local resident made a Public Records Request that we could see that even testing by the Tacoma Fire Department showed the Safety Zone was 10 times larger than PSE's.
Local scientists ran testing using the gold standard model from Arist Tek that is used by Department of Defense, supported by homeland security and nearly every large Fire Department in the US. It confirmed a 3.5 mile safety zone—over 30 times larger than PSE's. Our Tacoma Fire Department has this test but why aren't they using it? Would it create too much conflict between big business, fossil fuel and politicians who are financially supported by them? PSE markets how safe this project <sup>is</sup>—I say prove it. If you were going to a Dr., wouldn't you want gold standard testing so that you could get the best treatment? Let PSE use the gold standard testing. If the fossil fuel industry wants community support, be transparent instead of deceptive. <sup>I support the seawall amendment.</sup> Also, look to the future. Renewable energy technologies are growing faster than fossil fuels. They provide good family wage jobs. Let's move in a direction that is safe and supports families, our land and water.
