NWEC-RNW-NRDC DATA REQUEST NO. 047

NWEC-RNW-NRDC DATA REQUEST NO. 047:

The intent of these discovery questions is to drill into data relating to the findings with respect to the treatment of resource costs and distribution capacity-related costs in calculations of the three block rate discussed by Mr. Piliaris at pages 57-60 of his direct testimony and calculated in Table 8 of that testimony. We are amenable to responses that meet this objective in a manner less burdensome to the Company.

Provide any analysis the Company has of annual residential CP and NCP load factors of customers using less than 800 kWh per month, of customers using 800-1800 kWh per month, and of customers using more than 1800 kWh per month, and explain how this data was used in computing the estimated block rates in Table 8.

Response:

Puget Sound Energy's load research program is designed to develop class hourly load profiles for the entire class only. Any further granularity is not available to estimate annual coincident system peak and non-coincident peak factors by kWh usage block.
