2. For each Qwest wire center in Washington and for each type of telecommunications service that your company provides to business customers listed in answer to inquiry number 1, please provide the number of lines, including lines provided through special access service, according to the type of special access circuit, your company provided to business customers as of December 31, 2002. Please identify which types of loops you use or own.

If you are a facilities-based provider you may submit this information by exchange or by geographic area if you do not have the information on a Qwest wire center basis. If you are a non-facilities based provider, and this information is in Qwest's control, Qwest must provide either the information requested, or the place in Qwest's filing where the information is located, by July 18, 2003. You must then verify Qwest's response by July 25, 2003.

RESPONSE: Integra is a facilities-based carrier in the State of Washington and provides basic business exchange telecommunications service as a facilities based carrier and on a resold basis from both Qwest and Verizon. See Attachment. The information set forth on the Attachment is Highly Confidential pursuant to amended protective order Docket No. UT-030614 and is so marked.
