WUTC Data Request 116

COS/Rate Spread/Rate Design - Has the company considered a residential pilot program for seasonal rates? If so, why isn't there a pilot program offering in this case? If not, please provide the rationale for why not.

Response to WUTC Data Request 116

The Company has not considered a pilot program for seasonal rates because seasonal pricing is justified by cost and is not a new or novel rate design feature that requires testing.
