Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2014 (Forecast)

NOTE A – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT FORECAST ASSUMPTIONS

This financial forecast presents, to the best of management's knowledge and belief, the Company's expected financial position, results of operations, and cash flows for the forecast period. Accordingly, the forecast reflects management's judgment as of January 19, 2014, the date of this forecast, of the expected conditions and its expected course of action. The assumptions disclosed herein are those that management believes are significant to the forecast. There will usually be differences between the forecasted and actual results, because events and circumstances frequently do not occur as expected, and those differences may be material.

Sales

The company expects ridership on its transit to total 50,000. The fare is $5 for a total of $250,000 in sales. $300 for charters has been forecast.

Cost of Sales

Bus direct operating costs have been forecast based on the experience of the former owners. These costs are expected to vary little since operations are on a published schedule regardless of ridership.

Expenses

Expenses are forecast based on the experience of the former owner with the exception of depreciation and interest.

Bank Borrowings and Interest Expense

It is the intention of management not to borrow for the purchase of new equipment. However, a $25,000 borrowing has been forecast in the event that a replacement bus is purchased. Management intends to replace a bus in 2014 and hopefully can do so with the cash generated through the business.

Income Taxes

The business is a limited liability company. The owner intends to elect a tax treatment that passes through income and expense to the owner's personal tax return. Therefore, income taxes would be the responsibility of the owner.

The company is organized as an LLC and the owner will elect to be taxed on a method that will pass the income tax liability to his personal tax return.

Describe the need for the requested service:

We are a household of three living at the extreme south end of the Island. We are making an effort to limit our carbon footprint and other environmental impacts caused by using our cars. The distance to the Village (the focal point of most activity on the Island) makes it impractical to ride a bicycle the whole way. With three vehicles and three widely variant schedules for part-time work, volunteer work and play, we often find ourselves using all three vehicles. We try pooling with neighbors when possible, and have even hitch hiked on some occasions, but these strategies are not often convenient.

A shuttle coming as far as the South-end General Store would allow us to limit our car use to the 3-mile distance to the store, using their parking lot as a park-and-ride. We could also easily bicycle to and from the store. Depending on the schedule, I would anticipate each of us using the transit service several times per week.

With the ferry landing so far from the village (and so far from our home) it is impossible to walk on without driving a vehicle to the ferry landing. This service would encourage tourists to walk on the ferry and go to the village and stay and shop there, thus enriching our local economy. It would also provide a valuable service to residents who would not have to endure long ferry lines at peak times, and the environmental benefit of less car driving overall.
