GENERAL PROVISIONS

DESCRIPTION OF SERVICE

The service offered under this Tariff is available in the territory served by the Company, as shown on its Exchange area map, filed as a part of its Tariff WN U-2.

911 is the three-digit telephone number designated as the emergency telephone number to be used by the public to obtain law enforcement, medical, fire, rescue and other emergency services.

When an end user served by an exchange access line to which E911 Service is provided dials 9-1-1, the call will be routed to a dedicated 911 trunk that normally connects either directly or indirectly with a PSAP. E911 includes certain special features, including ANI and, if the PSAP procures such services from the Company or another Company-authorized source, Automatic Location Identification ("ALI"). With respect to telephone lines served by the Company, ALI normally consists of providing to the PSAP what is shown in the Company's records as the service address of the calling station, together with certain other information pertaining to the calling station.

CONDITIONS

1. These conditions apply to all services offered by the Company pursuant to this Tariff, and apply in addition to the conditions set forth in other specific schedules of this Tariff.
2. All 911 Customer orders for service shall be submitted to the Company in writing. When a 911 Customer places, modifies or cancels an order for service offered by this Tariff for a specific geographic area or Central Office service area, such action shall constitute a representation and warranty by the 911 Customer that it is duly authorized by law and by all other governmental and/or emergency assistance agencies having an interest therein to take such action. If more than one 911 Service Customer orders service for the same geographic area, it shall be the responsibility of the potential 911 Customers to resolve the jurisdictional dispute.

8. 911 Service is arranged for one-way incoming service to the appropriate PSAP. Outgoing calls are allowed only on a transfer basis using Selective Routing.
9. Rates charged for service include inspection and monitoring normally provided by the Company with respect to the types of Company-provided facilities utilized (e.g., Dedicated Circuits or PSTN) to discover errors, defects and malfunctions in the Company's facilities, but do not include any additional inspection or monitoring. If available, the Company may provide additional inspection and monitoring of facilities for an additional charge upon 911 Customer request or as required by any rule or regulation promulgated by the Washington Utilities and Transportation Commission.
10. The 911 Customer is responsible for the overall adequacy of the service configuration ordered by it. The 911 Customer must purchase service elements and facilities offered by this Tariff sufficient to maintain at least a P.01 Grade of Service for 911 Calls originating in each Company Central Office. A minimum of two (2) dedicated 911 circuits shall be ordered between each End Office and the PSAP Serving Central Office or between each End Office and the 911 control office. This requirement may be waived by the Company when an End Office is a remote switch served by a Company-owned host switch. Each PSAP to which 911 Calls originating in the Company's Exchange are forwarded shall have at least one 10-digit unlisted, and one 10-digit listed, number available at all times. Specific services offered by this Tariff may have additional requirements relating to PSAP numbers.

6. In order for E911 Service to be provided with respect to any Central Office served by the Company, the 911 Customer must order from the Company E911 Code Recognition and the provision of Subscriber Line Data. The 911 Customer must also order, either from the Company, from another LEC or from an Interexchange Carrier dedicated channels connecting the Company's Central Office directly with the PSAP, or, where suitable facilities exist, with the Central Office serving the PSAP or the 911 control office. Such transport facilities shall consist of not fewer than two end-to-end voice grade non-switched channels.
7. Where the necessary dedicated channels are provided entirely by the Company and other LECs and are not ordered by the 911 Customer from any IXC, the rates and charges payable by the 911 Customer for the portion of such channels furnished by the Company will be determined on the basis of the Company's intrastate Special Access tariffs, with the distance-sensitive portion of such charges being determined on the basis of the number of whole or fractional airline miles, as measured between the Company's Serving Central Office and the point at which the Company's transport facilities connect with those of the connecting company participating in such transport. Meetpoint billing percentages will not be applied to the Company's rates and charges. The distance-sensitive portion of 911 transport charges for 911 channels that transit the Company's facilities shall be determined on a similar basis, measuring from the point at which such channels enter, or are deemed to enter, the Company's transport facilities to the Company's intermediate wire center, and from there to the point at which such channels leave, or are deemed to leave, the Company's transport facilities and enter the transport facilities of the connecting company participating in such transport.
8. Where the necessary dedicated channels are ordered by the 911 Customer from an IXC, the rates and charges of the IXC shall apply, and the Company shall be paid by the IXC for the Company's provisioning of such channels at the rates and charges set forth in the Company's Washington intrastate Special Access tariffs, applied in the manner described in Condition 8 of this Schedule.
