Basic Description:

Power feed to a house across the street was marked coming from the west to the east and out of our bore path, but it actually was feeding from the east to the west and crossing directly in our bore path. We stopped the drill 30' short of our exit pit on the east side to pothole the existing utilities and found a power line that was heading west. after calling Avista, it was located correctly, and turned to cross directly in our bore path. We stopped less than a foot short of the power line directly in line with it by pure chance.
