

will automate some of the manual items currently in the system. The project is a MDUG project, and the amount represents Cascade's share of the total cost. The Tungsten Autovoucher project would aim to automate some of the invoicing process that is currently manually entered, which will improve efficiency and reduce the possibility of errors.

Q. What are the estimated costs for the Tungsten Autovoucher project?

A. The total capital investment for the Tungsten Autovoucher project is $24,020.78 in 2025.