The high frequency radiation producing "smart" meters that PSE wants to install are old technology and are dangerous. It is estimated that more than three percent of people have harmful effects from the type of high frequency radiation produced by "smart" meters. Here is a link to brief interviews of some of the people I have encountered who are disabled by "smart" meters.

The analog meter must be available for these people. It produces no harmful high-frequency radiation. It would be best to move to a better technology that protects all people. As one example, Tacoma switched to fiber optics to carry information from the utility meters. Fiber optic lines can be shared with internet and phone providers.

Thank you.
