the May 1 effective date that reflected an estimate of the current year taxes followed by a subsequent filing that would be made as close to April 15th as possible that would update the current year estimates to actual amounts. This substitute filing is that subsequent filing.

The purpose of this substitute tariff filing is to update current year property taxes from estimated to actual amounts and to update the affected rates as agreed to with Commission Staff. The effective date of the proposed tariff rates remains May 1, 2015, as proposed in the initial filing and in the property tax tracker mechanism. Work papers reflecting the update from estimated taxes to actual taxes are enclosed. The impact of this substitute filing on the typical residential customer using 1,000 kWh per month is to decrease the average bill by $0.10 per month relative to the initial filing in this docket. Relative to current rates, the average bill would increase by $0.34 per month.

This substitution is provided for in WAC 480-80-111(a) as the revisions address concerns of the Commission with the timing of the filing of the tariff sheets. The tariff sheets described herein reflect the original issue dates of March 26, 2015, and the original effective dates of May 1, 2015.
