IMPORTANT NOTICE

Kalama Telephone Company ("Company") will be filing with the Washington Utilities and Transportation Commission ("Commission") to increase its Residential Exchange Access Line Service from $18.00 to $20.00, a change of $2.00 per month. The filing is proposed to take effect June 1, 2017.

The Federal Communications Commission has issued an Order (FCC Order No. 11-161) that requires the Company to increase its rates to the levels set forth in this Notice or face a corresponding reduction in its universal service support. Universal service support enables the Company to provide high quality service to you.

There is a chance that the FCC will reverse its position. Company representatives are asking the FCC to do that. If it happens, the rate will revert to $18.00 as quickly as possible.

This is not something that the Company is taking lightly. However, in considering the options available to it, the Company believes it has no choice but to follow the FCC's requirement in order to continue to receive universal service support at approximately the same level it has in the past, if the FCC does not reverse its position.

The commission has the authority to set final rates that may be lower or higher than the company's request, depending on the outcome of its investigation. You can submit comments by going to www.utc.wa.gov and clicking "Submit a Comment," or by one of the following options:
