

From: Friedlander, Marguerite (UTC)
Sent: Thursday, August 23, 2012 2:03 PM
To: Fassio, Michael (UTC); move@allservicemoving.com
Cc: Leipski, Tina (UTC); UTC DL Records Center
Subject: Certificate of Insurance

Good afternoon,

Staff has just alerted me to a difference in the name of the company in Order 02, in particular: ASM, LLC, d/b/a All Service Moving, LLC, and the company's name as it reads on the Washington State Secretary of State's Certificate of Registration, which is: ASM LLC DBA ALL SERVICE MOVING LLC.

Staff expressed concern that any insurance agent looking at these different names might be confused about which name the insurance should be written under.

Mr. Grabeel, it is my understanding that Staff will accept a certificate of insurance with either the DBA designation or the d/b/a designation. I, likewise, do not view it as a violation of Order 02 if the certificate of insurance is written with DBA, in all caps, as on the Certificate of Registration.

Thank you, Mr. Fassio, for bringing this to my attention. Also, if you feel it would assist your insurance agent, Mr. Grabeel, please feel free to provide him/her with a copy of this e-mail.