REQUEST:

Please provide the therm savings from Avista-sponsored DSM programs in Washington State in total, and by customer class and/or rate schedule, for each year 2000, 2001, 2002, and 2003.

RESPONSE:

The Company did not track individual project savings by state and rate class/schedule until 2004. Historically, we've seen about 70% of our savings attributable to Washington. The following numbers come from our Triple-E reports for 2001-2003, with the 70% allocation applied, to get to Washington's share of natural gas savings acquired through Avista-sponsored DSM programs.

	2001	2002	2003
Residential	124,221	140,536	155,043
Limited Income	5,018	25,772	22,450
Non-residential	382,451	291,481	410,381
Total	511,690	457,788	587,874

The Company did not have natural gas DSM programs in effect during 2000. All Residential and Limited Income customers would be residential revenue class. Non-residential consists of customers in the commercial and industrial revenue class. The majority of the savings shown generally are attributable to commercial revenue class.
