WAC 480-07-510 General rate proceeding submissions--Electric, natural gas, pipeline, and Class A telecommunications companies. General rate proceeding submissions by filings for electric, natural gas, pipeline, and Class A telecommunications companies as defined in WAC 480-120-034 must include the information described in this section. The company and all parties to an adjudication in a general rate proceeding must submit all required documents in electronic form consistent with the requirements in WAC 480-07-140 and by the next business day must submit five paper copies of all testimony and exhibits unless the commission establishes a different number. The commission may reject a filing that fails to meet these minimum requirements, without prejudice to the company's right to refile its request in conformance with this section. For purposes of this rule, "file with the commission," means filed with the commission's executive secretary under WAC 480-07-140 at the time the company files its general rate case; whereas "serve" or "provide" to commission staff or another party, means delivery to such persons, not filed with the commission.

submission for filing must include file with the commission nineteen paper copies of all testimony and exhibits that the company intends to present as its direct case if the filing is suspended and a hearing held, unless the commission preapproves the filing of fewer copies. In addition, the company must provide one electronic copy of all filed material in the format identified in WAC 480-07-140(6). Material that the company has not produced under its direction and control and that is not reasonably available to it in electronic format, such as generally available copyrighted published material, need not be provided in electronic format. The company must serve a copy of the submissionmaterials filed under this section on the public counsel unit of the Attorney General's Office at the time the company makes the submission toof filing with the commission if their any proceeding is the type in which public counsel generally appears or has will appeared in the past. The utility submission must include provide an exhibit that includes a results-of-operations statement showing test year actual results and anythe restating and pro forma adjustments in columnar format that supporting its general rate request. The companyutility must also showidentify each restating and pro forma adjustment and theits effect of that adjustment on the company's results of operations and revenue requirement. The testimony must include a written description of each proposed restating and pro forma adjustment describing the reason, theory, and calculation of the adjustment.

- (2) Tariff sheets. The company's initial submission for filing must include company must file with the commission and provide to public counsel a copy of the company's proposed new or revised tariff sheets in legislative format, (i.e., with strike-through to indicate theany material to be deleted or replaced and underlining to indicate theany material to be inserted, in paper and electronic format, unless already provided as an exhibit under subsection (1) of this section.

  The company must also file with the commission and copies of any tariff sheets that are referenced inby the new or amended tariff sheets.
  - (3) Work papers and accounting adjustments.
- (a) General. Work papers are documents that explain and describe in greater detail the substance of a party's testimony and exhibits, including but not limited to calculations, source documents, and treatisesAt the time the company makes its general rate case filing, the company must provide one copy of all supporting work papers of each witness to public counsel and three copies to staff in a format as described in this subsection. Staff and each other—Every party must submit for filing and serveprovide work papers that support its position and the testimony of each of its witnesses when the party submits that testimonyte all other parties within five days after the filing of each subsequent round of testimony filed (e.g., response, rebuttal). Work papers will not be included in the evidentiary record of the proceeding unless the commission issues a bench request or a party introduces them. All work papers must comply with the requirements of this subsection.

- (b) Referenced documents. If a party's the testimony, exhibits, or work papers refer to a document, including, but not limited to, a report, study, analysis, survey, article, or court or agency decision, that document must be included in the party's as a work papers except for the following:
- (i) a unless it isparty may include an official citation or Internet Uniform Resource Locator (URL) to a commission order or to a reported court opinion or other state or federal agency decision, rather than the document itself, if that decision is reported in a generally accepted publication (e.g., Washington Reports Second (Wn.2d), Public Utility Reports (P.U.R.), etc.) or if the document is readily available on the website of the agency that entered that decision; and

- (ii) a party may include only the relevant excerpts of a voluminous document if the party also provides a publicly accessible Internet URL to the entire document or describes the omitted portions of the document and their content and makes those portions available to the other parties and the commission upon request., in which case the reporter citation must be provided in the testimony. If a referenced document is voluminous, it need not be provided, but the company must identify clearly the materials that are omitted and their content. Omitted materials must be provided or made available if requested. The following information is required for work papers:
- (cb) Organization. Work papers must be plainly identified and well organized, with different documents or sections separated by or into tabs, and must include an index and tabs.

  All work papers must be cross—referenced and include a description of the cross—referencing methodology.
- (de) Electronic documents and confidentiality. Parties must provide all electronic files supporting their witnesses' work papers. The Eelectronic files must be fully functional and include all formulas and linked spreadsheet files. Electronic files that support the exhibits and work papers must be provided useing logical file paths, as necessary, by witness, and must useing identifying file names consistent with the naming requirements in WAC 480-07-140. A party may submitfile a document for filing with locked, hidden, or password protected cells only if such restricted access is necessary to protect the subject to public disclosure—or proprietary information in the document. The party must identify each locked, hidden, or password protected cell and must designate such cells, as well as any other information the party contends is shall designate that portion of the document as confidential under RCW 80.04.095 or otherwise protected from public disclosure, in compliance with the requirements in WAC 480-07-160, and/or any protective order., and the The party must make such information accessible to all persons who have signed the protective order or are otherwise entitled to access the information, including but not necessarily limited to commission staff and public counselshall provide it to any person requesting the password who has signed an appropriate confidentiality agreement.

- the company submits for filing must include aA detailed description portrayal of the development of any capital structure and rate of return proposals—and all supporting work papers in the format described in this subsection. Any other party that submits testimony or exhibits for filing that propose revisions to the company's current capital structure or target rate of return also must submit supporting work papers.
- (fe) Restating and pro forma adjustments. Parties must provide Each party that proposes restating or pro forma adjustments must submit work papers for filing that contain a detailed portrayal of the restating actual and pro forma adjustments that the partycompany uses to support its proposal orfiling or that another party uses to support its litigation position. That portrayal must specify, specifying all relevant assumptions, and includeing specific references to charts of accounts, financial reports, studies, and all similar records on which the party relies relied on by the company in preparing its filing, and by all parties in preparing their testimony and exhibits. All work papers must include support for, and calculations showing, the derivation of each input number, used in the detailed portrayal and for each subsequent level of detail, and. The derivation of all interstate and multiservice allocation factors must be provided in the work papers.

- (i) Change in methodologies for adjustments. If a party proposes to calculate an adjustment in a manner different from the method that the commission most recently accepted or authorized for the company, it must also present a work paper demonstrating how the adjustment would be calculated under the methodology previously accepted by the commission, and a brief narrative describing the change. Commission approval of a settlement does not constitute commission acceptance of any underlying methodology unless so specified in the order approving the settlement.
- (ii) "Restating actual adjustments" adjust the booked operating results for any defects or infirmities in actual recorded results of operations that can distort test period earnings. Restating actual adjustments are also used to adjust from an as-recorded basis to a basis that the commission accepts able for determining rates making. Restating adjustments must be calculated based on the unadjusted test year operating results, not on another party's adjustments. The commission may refuse to consider any adjustment that is not calculated consistent with this requirement. Nonexclusive eExamples of restating actual adjustments are adjustments that

- (A) to remove prior period amounts; 7
- (B) to eliminate below-the-line items that were recorded as operating expenses in error;
  - (C) to adjust from book estimates to actual amounts: T
- (D) annualize ongoing costs that the company began to incur part way through the test year;
  - (E) normalize weather or hydro conditions; orand to
- $\underline{\text{(F)}}$  eliminate or  $\underline{\text{to}}$  normalize extraordinary items recorded during the test period.
- (ii±) "Pro forma adjustments" give effect for the test period to all known and measurable changes that are not offset by other factors. The work papers must identify dollar values and underlying reasons for each proposed pro forma adjustment.

  Pro forma adjustments must be calculated based on the restated operating results. Pro forma fixed and variable power costs, net of power sales, may be calculated directly based on either test year normalized demand and energy load, or on the future rate year demand and energy load factored back to test year loads.
- (iii) If a party proposes to calculate an adjustment in a manner different than the method the commission most recently accepted or authorized for the company, the party must also submit work papers for filing that demonstrate how that adjustment would be calculated under the methodology previously accepted by the commission and explain the reason for the proposed change. Commission approval of a settlement does not constitute commission acceptance of any underlying methodology unless the commission so states in the order approving the settlement.

- detailed portrayal of the company's revenue from regulated sources, by source, during the test year and the a parallel portrayal, by source, of changes that would result in those revenues if the commission approves the company's request produced by the filing, including an explanation of how the resulting changes were derived.
- (hg) Achievement of rate of return. The company's work papers must explain or provide support for the explanation in testimony and exhibits of whyIf the public service company has not achieved its targetauthorized rate of return, an explanation of why it has not and what tangible actions the company has taken prior to and during the test year is doing to improve its earnings in addition to its request for increased rates. If the company has not taken any such actions, the company must explain why it has not.

- (ih) Rate base and results of operations. The work papers must include aA representation of the company's actual rate base and results of operations of the company during the test period, calculated in the same manner used by the commission used to calculate the company's revenue requirement in the commission's final order in the company's most recent order granting the company a general rate proceedingincrease.

work papers must supplement, as necessary, ation of the annual affiliate and subsidiary transaction reports required provided in rules governing reporting requirements for the applicable each industry, as necessary, to include all such transactions during the test period. The company must required to identify all affiliate and subsidiary transactions that materially affect the proposed rates.
