Dear Ms. Harris,

I am writing to you as a Puget Sound Energy customer and fellow mom. I am deeply concerned about the state of the planet. I currently live in Bellevue, am 36 years old and have 2 children, 4 years old and soon to be 2.

In my short life I have witnessed first hand the changing climate in the Seattle area. Warmer summers lead to more forest fires and even more simply just make life uncomfortable. I want to do everything in my power to ensure my children have a safe and healthy environment to live in. I imagine you want the same for your children.

As a customer and greater Northwest neighbor, I am writing to beg you to retire the Colstrip coal plant in Eastern Montana along with its coal sources. I urge you to act with your conscious and as a global citizen. by retiring the plants and converting the facilities to renewable clean energy to help to continue to employ the people in the area who depend on PSE for employment but also to act on behalf of their health and their future.

Respectfully,

Wendy Dubrow
