Dear Puget Sound Energy CEO Kimberly Harris;

Thank you for committing to retire the two dirtiest boilers at the Colstrip coal plant. This is a great show of faith on the part of PSE to show your seriousness about being a "green" energy company. I urge you to retire the remaining units 3 and 4 by 2021, at the latest, and to replace them with a 100% renewable energy, and energy efficient, alternative to coal and natural gas. This will send a powerful message to customers, like me, who deeply care about the environment. In addition, you will be in alignment with, and supportive of, King County goals and commitment to being 100 percent renewable by 2025.

As a Climate Reality leader, I am committed to doing all I can to stem the trend of warming, climate instability and health issues related to Climate Change. As a mother and grandmother I feel absolutely compelled to work tirelessly to protect the future of our planet for all children and creatures of the earth.

Emerging science and trends point to a rapidly changing world, and I feel a pressing sense of urgency to reduce pollutants and CO₂ emissions as soon as humanly possible. In this spirit, I urge you to do all you can to move your timeline forward as much as you can. Your clients, and the generations to come, will thank you.

Sincerely,

Dana Ecelberger
