Description	This message is in opposition to the closing of the railroad crossing at Hickox Road in Skagit County. I am totally opposed to this and feel that it would subject nearby residents to increased risk in time of flooding or other emergencies and require a great deal of additional driving on a daily basis for all those involved. This is not a redundant crossing. Other crossings are not close or just as easy to use. Hickox is the only road that leads directly to the freeway onramp. The others would require miles of additional travel to reach the same point. Also, the crossing at Blackburn would result in more traffic passing by the school and increasing risk to the children crossing there. Hickox is a good road, in good state of repair and has a railroad crossing in good usable condition. I fail to see the logic in closing this crossing and wasting the value that has already been invested there. Thank you for your consideration
