To whom it may concern:

I am writing this letter in enthusiastic support for Sohel Bootwala and his new company, Heezy Haulers. As a neighbor and friend for the past 2 years, I have had the opportunity to meet his father and family. I have witnessed Sohel's character during business and after-hours and I can attest he is a dedicated and reliable family man who provides relentless support for his family and son. He is the perfect neighbor who displays courteous and enthusiastic demeanor to those he encounters; he has integrity and his drive to go the extra mile as a neighbor and friend will translate well in his new venture.

Sohel's father is a successful entrepreneur and that trait is also evident in Sohel. I am sure he will utilize his years in marketing, his professionalism, entrepreneurship, drive and dedication to build a very successful company whose cornerstone is reliability and high customer satisfaction. In my 15 years as an infrastructure project manager where I have utilized moving companies across the US for Fortune 50 customers, universities, state and local government, hospitals and clinics, I can see Sohel's succeed in his new endeavor. His easy courteous demeanor, attention to details, punctuality with appointments and ability to quickly adjust his focus will mean the business can tailor their moving services to meet the diverse and demanding needs of his customers.

In closing, I wholeheartedly support Sohel and Heezy Haulers. And I believe Heezy Haulers will grow into a successful business trusted by its customers; and the business will thrive with exemplary services in the moving industry.

If you require any further information, please feel free to contact me.

To Whom It May Concern-

I have the pleasure to write to you in support of a new business venture, Heezy Haulers, founded by Soheli Bootwala. I have known Soheli for over a few years and highly recommend him for his business acumen, work ethic and in general he is a wonderful person. I am fortunate to live close to Soheli and his family and interact with him daily. Soheli is simply a joy to be around, has a great sense of humor, has a passion for his family, and for his work! He is very driven and dedicated to the success of Heezy Haulers.

He and I consistently discussed the dream of running our own business. I am very excited for him to make that dream come true with Heezy Haulers. It can be quite challenging to find an available moving company these days – his company will provide a great service to our community and to those communities around us. His outgoing and joyous personality has made our neighborhood that much better – proving one person can make a huge difference. I know this will be true for his customers – they will be fortunate when they hire Heezy Haulers and can be assured they will receive the best in customer service and care. I would certainly put my treasured belongings in his capable hands to have them moved safely and on time.

Sincerely,

Josie Langendoerfer
