

BEFORE THE WASHINGTON UTILITIES AND TRANSPORTATION COMMISSION

Washington Utilities & Transportation Commission v. Cascadia Water, LLC Docket No.
UW-240151

Cascadia Water, LLC's Data Request Nos. 001 to 009

CASCADIA WATER 006: _____

CASCADIA WATER Data Request No. 006 to WCAW:

Please describe the WCAW's decision making process, e.g., are decisions based on a vote of the executive committee, of the general membership, or something else?

Response: WCAC is an informal group of consumers interested in opposing Cascadia Water's efforts to drastically increase their water rates. It's "executive committee" is a group of volunteers actively trying to familiarize themselves with WUTC procedures, understand Cascadia's claims, and to aid the WUTC in its goal of protecting consumers through implementation of reasonable and fair water rates. To the extent any "decisions" have been made such decisions were the result of consensus among the "executive committee."
