On May 5, 2005, the Commission completed a comprehensive review of its safety rules relating to natural gas pipeline operations. The safety rules in Chapter 480-93 WAC took effect on June 2, 2005. In November 2005, the Commission adopted changes to these rules to correct errors and clarify issues identified by agency staff and stakeholders. In the process of implementing these rules and recent amendments, stakeholders and agency staff have identified some additional concerns and areas that need to be clarified for those rules listed above. This rulemaking will consider revisions to the specific rules identified above.
