

Dotson, Michael (UTC)

From: Jake Theis <jaketheisroyals@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, November 2, 2017 3:48 PM
To: Dotson, Michael (UTC)
Subject: Re: Household Goods App

Yes independent contractor

On Thu, Nov 2, 2017 at 3:39 PM, Dotson, Michael (UTC) <michael.dotson@utc.wa.gov> wrote:

That would be an independent contractor correct? If so, you should review this. An independent contractor is someone who works completely without supervision (independent.) If you are directing or controlling their work, they are not an independent contractor and you are required to pay worker' compensation and L & I taxes and such, and must be registered with those agencies.

From: Jake Theis [mailto:jaketheisroyals@gmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, November 2, 2017 3:14 PM
To: Dotson, Michael (UTC) <michael.dotson@utc.wa.gov>
Subject: Re: Household Goods App

My brother is going to help and I am going to hire another guy and put him on 1099

On Thu, Nov 2, 2017 at 3:03 PM, Dotson, Michael (UTC) <michael.dotson@utc.wa.gov> wrote:

Oh yeah, one thing I keep forgetting to ask. I don't recall you responding to my question regarding your use of "day labor." Where will they come from, how are they being paid, etc.

Mike Dotson

Transportation Specialist 3

Licensing Services

Washington Utilities and Transportation Commission

PH: 360-664-1223

FAX: 360-586-1181