

Bob,

I'm sorry that I'm a little late on this, but it does give me the added benefit of having seen everyone else's responses. And based on the other responses, Qwest would probably align fairly closely with WITA's top 5. In addition to WITA, I can say that the 2 most important issues to Qwest are:

- Outage reporting requirements - The outage reporting requirements issued by the FCC in their ETC Order and the outage reporting requirements issued by the FCC in their outage reporting order in late 2004 differ which results in added complexity and additional resource requirements by Qwest.
- 5 year plan

We will see you on the 29th, if not before.