Dear UTC Commissioners,

I am a retired citizen of Washington and will be able to make it thru COVID 19 without calling upon my community for assistance. However, I do worry about all of the people that are left without jobs, have exhausted their savings employment security. As you know winter is coming and it will get very cold. We need to make sure that they are able to keep their electricity turned on until we get thru this pandemic.

It makes no sense to charge families that find themselves without funds to add extra charges and fees. But most important it is imperative that these families are not disconnected. Please do not let the utilities start charging extra to the rest of us that are able to pay our bills each month. I don't think that the utilities have had to weather the ill effects of the pandemic financially. It is only fair that they help out at this time of extreme need.

Thank you for your consideration

Jeanne George

Sincerely,
Jeanne George
