EWANIKA

I, Jaquandria Ewanika, under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of Washington, declare as follows:

1. I am employed by the Washington Utilities and Transportation Commission (Commission) as a compliance investigator in the Consumer Protection Section. As a compliance investigator, my responsibilities include conducting investigations regarding the business practices of regulated utility and transportation companies. As part of those duties, I investigate household goods carriers that may be operating without the required Commission permit.
2. On April 4, 2022, I found advertisements on Yelp for You Got It Movers, which identified itself as a household goods moving company. The advertisement offered to provide household goods moving services in multiple areas of Washington State.¹
3. On April 4, 2022, I found a webpage for You Got It Movers. The webpage listed the same phone number as the Yelp advertisement and included information on how to receive a free quote for a household goods move.²
4. On April 4, 2022, I searched Commission records and verified the Company's Household Goods permit was inactive.
5. On April 4, 2022, I called the phone number listed on the Company's webpage and spoke to an individual who identified themselves as James Moseley, company owner. I informed James Moseley that the Commission-issued household goods permit for You Got It Movers was inactive, and he must cease and desist operations until his permit was reinstated. He stated that he understood.

6. On April 6, 2022, I sent a compliance letter to notify James Moseley that You Got It Movers must cease and desist operations as a household goods carrier in Washington State until the company obtains the required household goods carrier permit from the Commission.³
6. On April 19, 2022, using an assumed name, I used the Company's free quote option located on its webpage to request a quote for a household goods move between two points in the state of Washington.
7. On April 19, 2022, I received an email from the Company stating they could perform the move and to call the number provided in the email to give additional details.⁴
8. On May 26, 2022, I called the number provided and spoke with a Company representative who identified themselves as James Moseley. James stated he could perform the move and quoted me a rate of $110 per hour using a 16-foot truck.
9. On June 30, 2022, I searched the Washington Department of Revenue's website. The results produced a company name of You Got It Movers, a governing person James Paul Mosely, a UBI number of 603-495-980, and an address of 7711 284th St. NE, Arlington, WA 98223-8477.⁵
