Dear Mister Chairman and Commissioners,

Again, thank you for hearing my comments today.

I truly do believe that industrial burning of fossil fuels has gone way too far.

The situation is global, and I also believe we have a serious opportunity here to send a message, and perhaps to start a chain reaction that would result in sweeping shut downs of coal fired power plants all around the world -- to the great benefit of humanity.

The additional point that I want to add to my testimony of today is about the situation in Japan following the Fukushima disaster. Since then, all atomic plants in Japan have been shut-down. Japan continues to go on.

Continuing upon this same path that we currently do is disaster. Great numbers of people already suffer because of the terribly wrongful and immoral socio-economic system, the same system under which PSE has been raking in its unholy profits off of pollution.

The time for change is now.

The future is in your hands.

Thank you, again, and best wishes, sincerely,
