

REPORTS AS REFERENCED IN WAC 480-123-070
AND WAC 480-123-080

Whidbey Telephone Company ("Company") hereby submits the following reports in accordance with WAC 480-123-070 and WAC 480-123-080.¹

Report 1: WAC 480-123-070(1)(a): Attached is a copy of the Company's NECA-1 Report for the calendar year 2012,² that, as of the date of the report, the Company has reported as the basis for support from the federal high-cost fund. That report also includes certain data for the calendar year 2011. The Company further reports that the Company's gross additions to telecommunications plant during calendar year 2012 were approximately [REDACTED]. Also, of the gross additions to telecommunications plant indicated above, approximately [REDACTED] related to Exchange Line Cable & Wire Facilities - Category 1 in the Company's designated ETC³ service area. Other major gross additions to telecommunications plant during the calendar year 2012 included an approximate [REDACTED] for broadband loop carrier ("BLC") equipment and purchases of office equipment and general purpose computer equipment.

Report 2: WAC 480-123-070(1)(b): The Company reports that the investments and expenses reported under Report 1, above, benefited customers as follows:

Through the expenditure of these funds, the Company was able to continue to provide services at a level that the Company believes meets the intent set forth in 47 U.S.C. § 254 of providing high quality telecommunications services to customers in the service area for which the Company is designated as an ETC. The Company has made substantial expenditures and investments over the past several years, which allow it to provide quality telecommunications services to its customers in its designated ETC service area. Those expenditures and investments, including those reflected in Report 1 above, generally benefit all customers receiving the federal high-cost fund supported services⁴ from the Company within its designated ETC service area.

Report 3: WAC 480-123-070(4): During the calendar year 2012, the Company received from the Federal Communications Commission ("FCC") notice of three (3) informal complaints made to them by Company customers with respect to services that are classified as regulated. These complaints, taken together, equate to approximately [REDACTED] complaints per thousand lines over which services that are supported by the federal high-cost fund are provisioned.⁵

¹ It is the Company's understanding that it is not required to submit the reports described in WAC 480-123-070(2) and (3).

² National Exchange Carrier Association, Inc. Universal Service Data Collection Form 2013-1.

³ The term "ETC" is used herein with the same meaning as the term is used in Chapter 480-123 WAC.

Two of the informal complaints to the FCC of which the Company received notice during the calendar year 2012 were from the same customer and related to that customer's request for local number porting. In an attempt to assist the customer with that request, the Company made numerous contacts with the carrier to which the customer desired to have the number ported. That carrier did not have an established porting relationship with the Company, and the most recent information that the Company has received from that carrier with respect to such porting is that the carrier was unable to obtain the necessary internal engineering support and would continue to pursue that.

The remaining informal complaint to the FCC of which the Company received notice during the calendar year 2012 pertained to what are sometimes referred to as "rural call completion issues," which reportedly have affected rate-of-return, incumbent local exchange carriers serving rural areas nationwide. More specifically, the subject informal complaint pertained to problems reportedly encountered by the Company customer submitting the complaint, or by persons endeavoring to call that customer's telephone number, consisting of (i) the failure of interexchange calls to complete properly to that telephone number or (ii) transmission problems on such calls and/or erroneous or incomplete calling number identification. To the best of the Company's information, knowledge and belief, this informal complaint to the FCC was not the result of any inadequacy or insufficiency in any Company practice or procedure, but rather was the result of issues introduced by the originating wireless or interexchange carrier, or intermediate interexchange carriers, or their respective subcontractors.

Report 4: WAC 480-123-080(1)(b) and (2): The Company reports as follows:

As they are known to the Company at the date of this Report and except as described in the next paragraph below, the planned investment and expenses related to Washington state for the periods January 1, 2013, through December 31, 2013, and January 1, 2014, through December 31, 2014, that the Company expects to use as a basis to request federal high-cost fund support for those periods, respectively, are expected to be relatively similar to those investments and expenses the Company has set forth in its information for calendar year 2012 filed under Report 1, above, taking into account normal fluctuations in investment and expense levels. The Company expects that levels of expenses in each of those years will remain relatively the same as those it experienced in calendar year 2012, subject to the effects of inflation and other commonly experienced Company's billing of an installation charge for High Speed Internet service (that previously had been waived due to the customer's commitment to twelve (12) months of continuous service) and the resulting remaining balance owed by the customer after service had been disconnected prior to the end of the 12-month commitment period. The complaint did not pertain to the quality of the Company's High Speed Internet service, and because that service was being furnished and priced on a "non-regulated" basis, the matter was resolved by a discretionary credit for the installation charge being applied to the customer's account. If the complaint to the Consumer Protection Division were added to the three (3) informal complaints to the FCC, the resultant four (4) complaints would equate to approximately [REDACTED] complaints per thousand lines over which services that are supported by the federal high-cost fund are provisioned.

changes in cost of labor and materials, changes in depreciation rates, and changes in the cost of employee benefit plans. The Company does not anticipate major adjustments in staffing levels for either relevant period. The Company expects that, in each of the calendar years 2013 and 2014, it will have relatively the same level of expenditure and investment related to maintenance, replacement and minor upgrades of telecommunications equipment and plant as occurred in calendar year 2012.

The Company's investment and expenditure plans directly affecting federal high-cost fund supported services offered by it in its designated ETC service area include the continuation of some major projects in calendar years 2013 and 2014, portions of which have already been completed and which include the following:

[REDACTED]

The expected benefit to customers from the anticipated investment and expenditures is that customers will continue to receive a high level of telecommunications service and the new facilities will result in and/or enhance a platform that will provide additional capacity for the provision of existing federal high-cost fund supported services to customers in the Company's designated ETC service area and on which additional telecommunications services, including, but not limited to, advanced telecommunications services, can be provided to customers in the Company's designated ETC service area. These projects will improve the quality of service and network capacity available to the Company's customers in the portions of the Company's designated ETC service area in which the new facilities are to be deployed, as well as increase the number of services available to customers in most, if not all, of the Company's designated ETC service area. The Company further expects that any federal high-cost fund support received by the Company will aid the Company's efforts to continue to provide the supported services at rates that are reasonably comparable to the rates for such services in urban areas. However, the Company projects that with reductions in intercarrier compensation and associated federal support, as well as other reductions in federal high-cost fund support, that support will need to be supplemented by support from the state universal service fund for the Company to be able to continue to maintain reasonably comparable rates. All customers in the Company's designated ETC service area will benefit from the expected level of federal high-cost fund support by continuing to have available to them services that are reasonably comparable to the telecommunications services offered in urban areas at rates that, if adequately supported by other factors, such as the state universal service fund, are reasonably comparable to the rates for such services in urban areas.
